

Our four core values are the DNA of Enea. They guide us in everything we do...

1 We focus on our customers' success

Our customers' success always comes first, because their success determines ours. We identify customer needs, apply our expertise to find a solution and deliver on our promises.

2 We innovate for business reasons

Enea has succeeded by developing and bringing to market technology to serve real customer needs. A philosophy of innovation for commercialization informs and shapes all our research and development efforts. And, we are not limited by our own development work. In our quest to solve customer's problems, we are open to working with multiple platforms and applications to achieve the right outcomes. Therefore, we look to work with leaders in complementary technologies in ways that make us even stronger.

3 We provide trusted leadership

Customers want to work with us because we are the trusted industry leader. We seek leadership in everything we do, from our product performance, to our professional development to the way we deliver on our promises.

4 We are team players

To develop and deliver the best products and services we depend on each other. We share expertise and experience with customers and colleagues. We facilitate collaboration, knowledge-sharing and social networking. We show respect for the individual, are open to other people's ideas and seek and provide feedback. We meet our commitments to our colleagues. As a global company, diverse cultural approaches are an asset.
